CALL FOR EXPERTS TO REPRESENT THE ENVIRONMENTAL INTERESTS IN THE DEVELOPMENT OF EUROPEAN STANDARDS RELATED TO CHEMICAL SUBSTANCES IN AUDIO/VIDEO AND ICT EQUIPMENT

RESPONSE REQUESTED BY NO LATER THAN 27TH FEBRUARY 2015

ECOS is looking for experts to provide expertise and represent, on behalf of ECOS, the environmental interests in the development of standards related to dangerous substances in ICT and Audio/Video equipment elaborated under the International Electrotechnical Committee (IEC) and the European Committee for Electrotechnical Standardization (CLC).

ECOS is an umbrella organisation representing 36 European environmental NGOs in the development process of European standards and technical product policies related to ecodesign and energy labelling. More information is available at www.ecostandard.org.

In particular, we are looking for experts to represent ECOS in the following groups:

- IEC/TC 108, responsible for standardization in the field of safety for audio/video and similar technology, information technology and communication technology equipment.
- CLC/TC 108X, to deal with the adoption in CENELEC of technical work of IEC/TC 108 and to coordinate the work with other technical bodies at European level.

The tasks of the expert will include:

- To monitor the relevant work of the one or several specific technical committees;
- To participate in and present ECOS' views in the selected standardisation committee meetings and report back to ECOS Secretariat (circa 2-3 meetings a year);
- To prepare technical input and position papers in close collaboration with the ECOS Secretariat;
- To regularly exchange with interested ECOS member organisations and other experts (by e-mail).

Activities are expected to continue throughout 2015 and beyond.

The remuneration of the expert will be as follows:

- Daily expert fees (€ 400,-) for preparation, participation in meetings and reporting, as well as for any other tasks to be performed in between meetings;
- Per diems to cover accommodation and subsistence costs (€ 170,-);
- Reimbursement of travel costs.

ECOS reimbursement terms and conditions are available on request.

Please send a cover letter and CV, including references of relevant work and indication of the TC you are interested in to info@ecostandard.org, as soon as possible and at the latest by 27th February 2015.
